SAD ACCIDENTS.

Mr. Christopher Taylor Carson Meets His Death While Cutting Timber.

Jim Taylor, colored, accidentally shot Claude Edson, also colored, while out hunting.

Mr. Christopher T. Carson, one of the foreman and leading citizens of the No Creek vicinity, met with a sad accident last Saturday, while cutting timber, which proved to be fatal.

About 11 o'clock Saturday, while cutting a tree on his farm, a limb from the falling tree struck his forehead and breast, but not seriously hurting him at the time.

He was able to walk to his residence without assistance, but on arriving his pains had been intensified so he laid down on a cot to rest.

The outward shows of injury were very slight and no thought of serious trouble was anticipated by the family, but the injury was internal and proved fatal in twenty-four hours from the time he was struck by the limb.

Medical aid could effect nothing, and Mr. Carson breathed his last at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. He was a member of a large and respectable family, composed of ten boys, five of whom are dead, and three girls, two of whom yet survive.

Besides his brothers and sisters, he leaves a wife and nine children to mourn his departure to the beyond. Funeral services were held at the No Creek church by Rev. Howes, Presiding Elder. The largest crowd that No Creek has witnessed for many years, gathered to pay tribute to the deceased husband, father, friend and neighbor.

The conclusion of the funeral services, the remains were interred in the Carson graveyard at No Creek. THE REPUBLICAN desires to extend sympathy to the family in this saddest hour of their existence.

Saturday afternoon the colored people of Mayfield were horrified when the news came that Jim Taylor had shot and perhaps fatally wounded Claude Edson. The boys had gone to the fields in search of game, and in a way mysterious to every one, this affair occurred. It is believed by some of the colored people that it was Taylor's carelessness that the shooting occurred, but we are unable to learn the truth of the story.

At any rate, the boy is dangerously hurt. The ball entered above the left eye, penetrating to the brain and leaving an ugly and nauseating wound. The Dr. were summoned and removed part of the ball, but owing to the condition of the patient, they were unable to remove it entirely. It is thought that Edson will die.

Mr. Ora Phillips, Phillips Station, accidentally shot himself, while reloading a gun, on the 19th. Dr. E. W. Ford was summoned and dressed the wound. The left arm was badly mangled by the discharge of the gun. We hope, however, that this member of the body may be saved, and will by proper care, says the reporter.

THE ONLY CURE FOR SCROFULA.

S. S. S. is the Only Remedy Equal to this Obsolete Disease.

There are dozens of remedies recommended for Scrofula, some of them no doubt being able to afford temporary relief, but S. S. S. is absolutely the only remedy which completely cures it. Scrofula is one of the most obstinate, deep-seated blood diseases, and is beyond the reach of the many so-called purifiers and tonics because something more than mere tonic is required. S. S. S. goes down to the seat of the disease, thus permanently eliminating every trace of the taint.

The serious consequences to which Scrofula surely leads should impress upon those afflicted with it the vital importance of waiting no time upon treatment which can possibly effect a cure. In many cases where the wrong treatment has been relied upon, complicated glandular swellings have resulted, for which the doctors insist that a dangerous surgical operation is necessary.

Mr. H. E. Thompson, of Millersville, Ga., writes: "A bad case of Scrofula broke out on the glands of my neck, which had to be lanced and caused me much suffering. I was treated for a long while, but the physicians were unable to cure me, and my condition was such that I began their treatment. Many blood remedies were used, but without effect. Some one recommended S. S. S., and I began to improve as soon as I had taken a few bottles. Continuing the remedy, I was soon cured permanently, and have never had a sign of the disease to return." S. S. S. Specific—

S. S. S. FOR THE BLOOD

—Is the only remedy which can promptly reach and cure obstinate, deep-seated blood diseases. By relying upon it, and not experimenting with the various so-called tonics, etc., all sufferers from blood troubles can be promptly cured, instead of enduring years of suffering which gradually but surely undermines the constitution. S. S. S. is a guaranteed purely vegetable, and never fails to cure Scrofula, Eczema, Cancer, Rheumatism, Contagious Blood Poison, Boils, Tetter, Pimples, Sores, Ulcers, etc. Insist upon S. S. S.; nothing can take its place. Books on blood and skin diseases will be mailed free to any address by the Swift-Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

Hartford Republican.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 27

CITIZENS, BE ON GUARD

Election Swindles Will Be Attempted by the Gang.

PAST HISTORY AS A PRECEDENT.

Gently intimate to the who would have the ballot line or the return that such offenders in the future will be known to have stricken down.

The following letter addressed from the Democratic state central and executive committee to one of the election commissioners in one of the counties in the Eleventh district should be interpreted in connection with Mr. South Trimble's letter to Mr. Thompson, in which the following passage occurs:

"No better man could have been appointed, but it is an unenviable position, and one that should not be accepted. Our county is all right—safely Democratic—but city elections can not be won with a fair count, and you know that as well as I do. Incompetent, unreliable Republican judges will have to be appointed. The right of the Republicans to indicate who shall represent them as judges, etc., will have to be ignored, and the election commissioners will have to do this, or receive the ill will of the city Democrats. I would not do it, for I could not conscientiously do so, and know that you would not; therefore my advice to you is to refuse to act."

"I had a talk with Judge Pryor on the subject, and he said if you would refuse to act he would appoint any one that we might indicate, which would be ten Marshall. You know Ben is so partisan that he thinks anything is right that helps the Democrats. Think this matter over and use your best judgment, and if you conclude not to accept, write to me immediately and I will have the change made. I will also see that your interests are represented in the appointment of officers on your side of the river. Let me hear from you at once."

Judge Pryor, after this letter, appointed Mr. Ben Marshall.

Here is the letter referred to from the Democratic committee:

"Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 23, 1899.—My Dear Sir: Permit me to urge upon you the importance of returning to us the poll-books sent to you at the very earliest possible moment. Most of all of the county have already completed the poll and returned the books to us, and we are now waiting on your county and two or three others."

"I am fully aware of the many difficulties you have necessarily encountered in making the poll, but when it is completed the most important gain of the campaign will have been gained."

"We will then know just where we are, what is necessary to be done, and expect, with your assistance, to do it. Faithfully yours,

"ALLIE W. YOUNG."

A statement has been made that what is necessary to be done, according to Goebel's needs, and what is expected, is that returns shall be held back from the district Republican counties in that district till too late to be counted.

A little vigilance and a gentle intimation that some election swindlers may be hanged will prevent that.

Under the statutes under the ruling of Judge Pryor each candidate for governor is entitled to an inspector at each precinct to supervise the counting of the vote. There are five candidates for governor, and if good men who are not afraid to do their duty, are appointed as inspectors, and have the backing of honest election leagues and other friends of a free vote and a fair count, the counting will be all right.

Under the Goebel law the sheriff is required to deposit with the county board of election commissioner the returns from the various precincts in his county within two days after the election, and on the next day the said board is required to meet in the county clerk's office between 10 and 12 o'clock in the morning, open and canvass the returns and immediately thereafter to make out two or more certificates in writing, over their signatures, of the number of votes cast for the candidates for the various offices, one of which certificates shall be retained in the clerk's office and another of which the clerk shall send by next mail, under cover, to the secretary of state.

The state board canvasses such returns as are received on the fourth Monday after the election.

Inspectors at each precinct are entitled to a certificate of the votes polled. The sheriff has to return the votes of all the precincts to the county clerk within two days. The next day the county commissioners are to tabulate the returns from the various precincts—and all they have to do is to tabulate them—and immediately to make out two or more certificates, one of which the clerk is to retain and another of which he is to send by next mail, under cover, to secretary of state.

Frankfort. The postmaster will know whether the clerk does this duty or not. The inspectors at the various precincts will know whether their precincts are reported correctly or not, and if they will gather at their county seats on the third day after the election and see that the returns are properly tabulated and that the clerk sends the certificates by next mail to Frankfort, the rumored Goebel scheme to hold back returns till too late to be counted by the state commissioners can be defeated.

During the winter of 1891 Mr. James Reed, one of the leading citizens and merchants of Clay, Clay Co., W. Va., struck his leg against a cake of ice in such a manner as to bruise it severely. It became very much swollen and pained him so badly that he could not walk without the aid of crutches. He was treated by physicians also used several kinds of liniment and two and a half gallons of whiskey in bathing it, but nothing gave any relief until he began using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This brought almost a complete cure in a week's time and he believes that had he not used this remedy his leg would have had to be amputated. Pain Balm is unequalled for sprains, bruises and rheumatism. For sale by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro. m.

TELL-TALE LETTERS.

Did Judge Pryor Know of Them When He Appointed Ben Marshall?

In the short speech made at Lexington, Henry county, is reported to have said that Judge Pryor had seen Mr. Thompson's letter, and the letter of Mr. South Trimble before he appointed Mr. Marshall. We quote the report made of the statement of Mr. Craven: "Mr. Craven spoke for a few minutes on the election commissioners of Franklin county and discussed to Mr. W. E. Thompson of that county advising him not to accept the appointment because work would be required of him which he would refuse to do. Mr. Craven said that Judge Pryor saw that letter and also Trimble's letter suggesting that Ben Marshall be appointed, and be charged that Judge Pryor knew that when he appointed Marshall he would do the work required of him."

On several occasions The Evening Post has published that Judge Pryor said he knew of some such correspondence before the appointment of Mr. Marshall. When that correspondence was published The Herald distinctly asked Judge Pryor if he had seen that correspondence and offered him the use of its columns to respond, explain or justify. Judge Pryor never made answer, and so far as we are informed has never yet made answer. Our readers remember that infamous letter of Mr. Trimble. Judge Pryor may determine to remain silent, even under this direct statement of his fellow townsman, Mr. Craven is a member of the Newcastle bar; he represented that district in the senate; he stands as high for integrity, veracity and spotless character as did Judge Pryor before he accepted this position, before he approved the violation of law committed by the election commissioners in his county.

In this connection we also call the attention of our readers to the publication in a recent issue concerning the action of the Jessamine election board. Judge Pryor distinctly stated in his correspondence with the manager of The Herald that if the county board appointed election officers who were disqualified, they should be removed, and implied that in such event investigation would be had and removal followed. Acting upon this statement formal notice was served upon the Jessamine board that three officers—namely, those who were disqualified and application made for removal; application was properly made and the sufficient affidavits were filed; the board refused to dismiss the disqualified officers. Judge Pryor was applied to and responded: "If disqualified they should appoint others. There is no board in session here. W. S. Pryor;" and the illegal officers acted at the registration. Of course this reply of Judge Pryor will be accepted by all his boards as ample license to act as they please; that there is no board and will be no board in session when any action is needed to secure honest elections. This illustrates the besuties of this election law, when administered by an able lawyer who understands its possibilities, who is in sympathy with its objects and who intends to do all in his power to effectuate the purposes for which it was passed and he appointed. Certain county boards in the Pugh district deliberately attempted to defraud Pugh out of his certificate; some, if not all, of those commissioners are reappointed. "A wink to as good as a nod to a blind horse." The illustration means a nod of approval of "every board who does likewise in November."—Lexington Herald.

GUARD THE BALLOT.

The Louisville Dispatch begins an editorial in the words following: "Judge Pryor and Captain Ellis are Democrats whose loyalty to Democratic principles has never been questioned. They are men of integrity, and no matter what may be the different opinions of the people as to the Goebel law there has been no disposition to doubt that these gentlemen would do all in their power to honestly administer the law and to prevent frauds in the elections. They occupy positions of power as well as responsibility. They may at any time remove any member or all of the members of any county board of election commissioners in the state. It is not necessary for them to prefer charges and give a hearing. They do not have to give a reason for removal. Their discretion is broad and their power absolute. This power makes them personally responsible for the conduct of the men they appoint. They can not shift their responsibility to the county boards, to be shifted in turn to the precinct election officers. Under this machine they are responsible and it is not possible for them to escape responsibility."

That being the case, why are such election officers appointed in Fayette county? That being the case, why does the Dispatch feel moved to think about what it calls "The Lexington Outrage" in the following:

"The purpose of the Goebelites was strikingly displayed in the action of the Fayette county election commissioners. According to the reports from Lexington which have not been denied, the Goebel commissioners resorted to the characteristic Goebel method of deception. They told the Republican commissioners that the time to which registration and election officers were to be appointed expired last Friday and that the appointments must be made that day. They did not wait for the notice of appointment to reach the Republican member, and with their complete list of officers, both Republican and Democratic, already prepared, and the minutes of the meeting written up in advance, the Goebel program was rushed through without consideration of the lists as proposed by the Republicans."

"This Lexington affair is in line with the threats that have been made that the Goebelites are to do the counting. It shows that an effort will be made to put these threats into execution wherever the gank believes the people will submit. It demonstrates the earnest necessity of a thorough organization for the protection of the ballot and for the punishment of ballot thieves."

ELECTION LEAGUES.

Citizens of Kentucky Organizing to Protect the Ballot.

When Tweed was in the plenitude of his power and owned the ballot boxes, the city government, the county government, the judiciary and seemed entrenched invincibly behind the ramparts of corrupt power there was quickly formed an anti-Tweed league whose sole object was the restoration of pure government by the overthrow of that intolerable rule. His sneering answer to ironclads was: "What are you going to do about it?" Charles D'Annunzio, Samuel J. Tilden and a few more like unto them, showed him what they were going to do about it. Judges were impeached, dismissed, disgraced; the mayor—perhaps only an innocent tool—was driven to England; Tweed and others were sent to penitentiary and the gang scattered, peace and order restored. In San Francisco the city was practically captured and looted; its condition of abject captivity to the forces of evil and crime can not be over stated. Courts were the slaves of crime, policemen the protection of thieves and counsels the slaves of the corrupt. At last a Kentuckian from Cynthiana, William T. Coleman, formed an organization known as the committee of safety. Judges were forced to resign or were hanged; judges cleared as the Aigian captives; the police made the guardians of the law and the foe of crime, and San Francisco became the safest city in Christendom.

Honest election leagues are now being formed in Kentucky. They will be asserted; men used to committing outrages at election times will laugh at them; some will ask: "What are they going to do?" The answer depends largely upon what those who ask this question are going to do. If the state board selects county commissioners of known probity of character, whose reputation secures confidence in honest, competent election officers; if the county boards appoint similar boards of election, so that it becomes manifest that we are to have a fair and legal election, that the registration will be just, peaceable, full and honest, and the promise of such an election is certain, these leagues will have nothing to do. If the state board disgraces itself and humiliate Kentucky by the appointment of known tricksters, and unscrupulous thimble-riggers; and they appoint similar election officers, these leagues will have much to say and more to do.

These leagues will not be composed of Brown men nor of Republicans, nor Populists, nor Prohibitionists, but of all of men of every political creed and belief; of men who have the right to vote and to have their votes fairly counted; and who organize to see that this is done.
